Learning Modules for the RFM Corporation

ESG and Strategy: A Boardroom Topic for Directors (2 hours)

We will take a close look at how Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) approaches are currently applied to address key concerns in Human Capital, Governance, Technology, and Climate Change in businesses as well as good examples of practical approaches for others to follow. More than just an indicator of a potential investment, ESG is also how companies influence the environment and society, we also need to see where our nation is currently at and where it's headed and see if current strategies are still relevant and how we can also work on behalf of our country.

Disruptive Strategy (2 hours)

Board Directors have a responsibility to guide and work with management to ensure the sustainability and growth of the business. Learn Dispute Strategy principles, tools, and techniques that you can use to create a new strategy for your organization. This course will tackle revolutionary theories and frameworks developed by a top professor at Harvard Business School who was widely known as the world's foremost authority on disruptive innovation. Learn the three main types of innovation and how they are deployed. Spot disruption in your industry early and exploit it as a new opportunity for your organization. If you don't new entrants might seize the opportunity and disrupt your business like what happened to once-dominant companies in the U.S. such as Blockbuster and others that failed. How should disruptive business models be organized in relation to your core business?

ATTESTATION

In its work, the Audit Committee ("the Committee") has sought to balance independent oversight of the business with support and guidance to management. The members of the committee are individuals who hold or have held senior office in business and have the knowledge and experience to properly discharge their duties. They are supported by members of senior management of the company and the external auditors, who regularly attend meetings of the committee and who are experts in their respective fields.

On behalf of the Committee, the undersigned hereby attests that based on the report from the Senior Management, Corporate Audit and the external auditor, the Audit Committee considers the overall financial and operating controls for the Company during 2024 to be effective, sound and sufficient.

Issued this 2nd day of April 2025 at Mandaluyong City, Philippines.
